

Interested in Wildlife Observation or Stalking?

Whether as your past-time or sport, it 's always enjoyable to observe Wildlife in its own natural environment.....

How many deer can you see in the picture below?

We at Colebrooke Park, Co. Fermanagh are excited to offer the new Practical Wildlife Observation and an Introduction to Stalking Skills course, which is held on one of Ireland's premier sporting estates.
Courses are available to anyone wishing to learn how to stalk, observe or shoot in an exciting but non-lethal manner.

At Colebrooke Park, we can provide a 1 day practical outdoor Wildlife Observation course which can be tailored to suit your individual needs.

You can then observe and stalk with a camera on our very own resident herd of wild Sika deer, and test your new skills against one of nature's most cautious mammals.

But why stop there?

We can also provide the fun but yet demanding Practical Wildlife Observation and an Introduction to Stalking Skills course, which can be used either as an insight into stalking or indeed to complement your current DSC qualifications in a non-lethal way. This course practices simulated stalking, observation and marksmanship – all onto field placed targets, which simulates stalking in a natural outdoor environment.

Courses are taught by qualified and experienced stalkers who have many years experience.

Why not make a weekend of it and stay in one of our beautiful estate cottages?

Contact: StalkingObservationTraining@gmail.com | 07895241426

miriam@colebrookecottages.com | 07493 058303